LABOR TROUBLES BESET NEW YORK

GARMENT WORKERS, STREET CAR MEN, FIREMEN AND WAITERS ARE INVOLVED

DEMANDS ARE NUMEROUS

Waiters Now Threatens to Go Out—Garment Workers Striking Force Numbers Nearly 200,000

By Associated Press.

New York, Jan. 16.—Seldom has New York City been the scene of more labor unrest than now. Between 150,000 and 200,000 garment workers are on strike for more pay and better working conditions, and more workers threaten to go out before the week ends; and in Yonkers, just above the city line, the street railway company has not moved a car since January 1.

New York is headquarters for negotiations between the railroad managers and 35,000 firemen in the eastern territory, who demand a readjustment of pay and schedules. The firemen decided last night to take a referendum strike ballot.

Night working waiters numbering about 3,000 voted today in ratification of a general strike in greater New York, as decided upon last night by their day working fellows. The leaders say, however, the strike will begin in twenty-four hours.

WOULD ASSESS PROPERTY AT ITS "CASH VALUE."

Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 16.—A new system of taxation for the state where by property will be assessed at its "cash value" and a law to enforce such assessments alike against the large corporations and the small property owners, is the most important recommendation in Governor McDonald's message to the legislature today.

PROMISES HORSEWHIP FOR NEXT "MASHER" THAT ACCOSTS HER

The lady who recently, through the columns of the Times, voiced a complaint against the men who congregate on street corners and blocked traffic, did not have as uncomfortable an experience as some others have had. A young woman whose work necessitates her going home after dark says so.

"It's these mashers that make the trouble," said this young lady. "They butt in when I'm walking home, and want to walk with me and act fresh in other ways. I've stood it as long as I'm going to; I'm going to get me a horse-whip and the next one that tries to start anything will catch it."

The tenor of these and other complaints indicates that the behavior of the male species which seems to have nothing to do but loaf on the streets, is not as good as it might be. Perhaps a dose of the horse-whip would be better in such cases, than anything else.

STANDARD OIL LETTERS SOLD TO NEWSPAPERMEN

Boy Who Disposed of Archbold Correspondence Makes Written Statement of Matter

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 16.—A written acknowledgement purporting to have been signed by Charles Stump on August 1, 1905, that he disposed of certain Standard Oil letters to "Mr. Chamberlain" and "Mr. Mooney" of the New York Journal for a consideration, was placed in evidence today before the Senate campaign committee by George Stump, a brother of Charles.

George Stump says he got his brother to sign the paper and witnessed it himself. The attement follows:

"S. Q. Barstow, 26 Broadway, N. Y.

1600 PACKAGES BY PARCELS POST

COUNT SHOWS MANY MORE RECEIVED HERE THAN WERE SENT OUT

BUSINESS IS INCREASING

Wichitans Beginning to Patronize Governments Innovation More Extensively Than at First

During the first fifteen days of the operation of the parcels post nearly eleven hundred more packages were received in Wichita Falls than were mailed out, indicating that Wichita Falls people have been slow in taking advantage of the conveniences offered by the new government service. Count has been kept at the local postoffice of all parcels post packages received and sent out from January 1 to and including January 15. The total number of packages received was 1650 of which fourteen were packages mailed in the city for delivery within the city. During the same period 555 packages were sent out from this city. The average weight of the packages dispatched has been two pounds.

The parcels post business at the local office has shown a slow but steady increase. Today's business was the heaviest since the new service was inaugurated nearly three hundred packages having been received up to 2 p. m. o'clock.

Within the last week merchants have begun the use of the parcels post service more extensively and at the postoffice this afternoon were several boxes of men's clothing, shoes and other articles mailed out by a local merchant. Some of these packages were for points up on the Denver and Northwestern and others were for delivery on rural routes.

ROWELL WOULD HAVE HOUSE COMMITTEES APPOINTED BY COMMITTEE

GOOD ROADS COMMISSION

Measure for Highways Is Introduced—Scholastic Age Measure Is Presented

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 16.—When the House convened this morning, Representative Rowell introduced a resolution to take the power of appointment of committees from the speaker and place it in a committee of committees. Before anything was done, the governor's message came in and the reading of it began.

The Senate was formally notified of the organization of the House today and at once began work. The governor's message came in for reading but was delayed for the introduction of bills. Among those introduced were two highway commission acts and one increasing the scholastic age from seven to seventeen to seven to twenty.

SUGAR DUTIES SUBJECT OF COMMITTEE HEARING

Refiners Protest That Reduction In Duties Would Seriously Cripple American Concerns

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The advantages and disadvantages of reduced sugar duties were set forth at great length at the hearing of the ways and means committee on that schedule. It is probable that there will be a marked reduction in the duties.

The House Democrats claim that placing sugar on the free list may save American consumers $115,000,000 annually, while the Republicans, charging that free sugar would surrender an important industry to the foreign importers, assert that it would deprive the government of more than $52,000,000 revenue. The free sugar proposition is coupled with the excise tax bill as an offset to loss in revenue. Meanwhile if two more states ratify the income tax amendment to the constitution the excise tax bill will not be pressed.

The tentative basis of revision is the free sugar schedule of the last session that failed of agreement between the two houses and would admit free of duty sugars, tank bottoms, syrups of cane juice, melada, concentrated melada, concrete and concentrated molasses, molasses generally, maple sugar, maple syrup, refined syrup, glucose or grape sugar and sugar cane. It would tax saccharine 65 cents a pound, sugar candy and other confectionery, valued at 15 cents a pound, or less and sugars after being refined, when tinctured, colored or in any way adulterated, 2 cents a pound, or if valued at more than 15 cents a pound, 25 per cent ad valorem.

The tariff on sugar now amounts to one and one-half cents a pound, say the Democrats in basing their estimate of the effect of the free sugar proposition. The house leaders are not sure of free sugar in the senate.

The American Sugar Refining Company went on record at the outset of today's hearing in favor of a reduced tariff upon sugar retention of the small differential duty upon refined sugar, "if protection is to be accorded to any industry" and the continuance of the present color standard as the most practicable distinction between raw and refined sugars for custom house classifications. It opposed abolition of any duty upon sugar on the ground that it would destroy at once one of the greatest sources of revenue. The company's proposition was presented by Edwin F. Atkins vice president and acting head of the company who was accompanied by several other officials. Mr. Atkins contended that abolition of all duty on all sugar would cause the termination of the Cuban reciprocity treaty under which Cuban sugars get a preferential rate of 20 per cent and Cuba gives preferential rates of 20 to 40 per cent upon goods coming from the United States. He also declared

ASKS ABOLITION OF FEE SYSTEM

WOULD PUT COUNTY OFFICERS ON SALARY BASIS—STOCK AND BOND AMENDMENTS

FOR PLATFORM'S PLANKS

Governor Says All Must Be Enacted Into Law and Pleads for Legislature's Co-operation

RECOMMENDATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR.

- Closing of saloons a 9t:30.
- Abolition of fee system for county officials.
- Repeal of automatic tax law.
- Amendment of stock and bond law.
- Building of cotton storage warehouses.
- Creation of state highway commission.
- Uniform compulsory compensation act.
- Revision of laws on campaign contributions.
- Repeal of present insurance measures.
- "Blue Sky" law.

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 16.—In his message to the Thirty-Third Legislature today Governor O. B. Colquitt urges prompt passage of the proposed liquor law providing for the closing of saloons at 9:30 p. m., asked that all officials of the State and county be paid salaries and recommends the abolishment of the fee system. The message favors reform in prison matter, and a special message on this is promised.

The repeal of the automatic tax law is also advised, and the governor suggests changing the fiscal year to begin with the calendar year.

The governor's message demands the enactment into law of the planks of the State Democratic platform.

The governor indicates strongly that the stock and bond law should be amended to allow railroads to issue bonds for improvements, but he indicates that, under the law as it exists at present, the commission already has proper jurisdiction as to revaluation. He frankly says there has been prejudice as to valuations allowed the railroads by the commission for bonding purposes.

He recommends legislation regarding county and city convicts, deprecating the use of the ball and chain. He pronounces the parole law of little benefit saying a condition pardon is much better than a parole. Repeal of the fee system is suggested and he desires that all officers be put on salary basis and that the fees shall go to the county.

Appropriations to care for one thousand insane are asked. Recommendations are made that all vacant property of the State be sold, proceeds to go to the permanet school fund. He recommends liberal appropriations for educational state institutions, and elemosynary institutions of the State. He praises the pure food department's work.

Improvements in the irrigation and mining laws are requested. A warehouse system for handling of cotton is advocated. A "blue sky" law is favored. The creation of the position of State highway engineer is requested.

The expense attached to the last codification of the statutes is denounced. A uniform, compulsory compensation act and a strong law on the subject of wife and child abandonment are desired. An act allowing cities and towns to restrict saloon districts is desired. Legislation for the revision of laws in regard to campaign contributions and forbidding pay for political speakers is sought. A frank declaration against the Robertson insurance law and for the repeal of the State insurance board is included.

"Political peace" is again sought and he asks for co-operation on the part of the Legislature.

STATE WITNESSES NOT YET THROUGH

"HAD SEEN MAN KILLED"

Much of Evidence Given by Prosecution so Far Has Been Circumstantial in Character

By Associated Press.

Memphis, Texas, Jan. 16.—T. L. Wilkes, a hotel clerk at Quanah, Texas, testifying in the trial of B. B. Epting, charged with complicity in the killing of Al G. Boyce Jr., by J. B. Sneed, said Epting, a few hours after Boyce had been shot, registered at the hotel where he was employed at Quanah.

Epting, according to Wilkes' testimony, stated he had seen a man killed in Amarillo and has hurriedly left town, fearing he might be summoned as a witness. Wilkes' story was not shaken by hard grilling by attorneys for the defense.

The State's witnesses so far have given evidence that is largely circumstantial. The prosecution will probably rest today.

W. M. Aldrwell, sheriff of Potter county, testified to his office being in the court house at Amarillo. He said he was there when he heard of the killing, between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon, Sept. 14, 1912, and immediately went to the scene. Albert Boyce was there. He was dead. Boyce wore a coat and trousers. Witness went to the jail. J. B. Sneed was there. This was thirty or forty minutes after the shooting.

Sneed had the appearance of a workingman. He had on overalls, a black derby hat, a rough, stubby beard and his appearance was untidy and unkempt. His beard looked like it had been colored or had coal dust in it. He had known Sneed several times but did not think he would have recognized him if he had met him on the street in that condition. He seemed to be very cool.

Witness said he entered the vacant one of the three cottages after the killing, used a skeleton key to get in. In the front room was a bed, chair, brush, window shades over the windows and a square and a saw. One of the window shades hung in a reversed position, upside down, with a small space uncovered at the bottom. There was a hole in the screen large enough to shove a hand through. Any one lying on the bed could see through the opening into the next block on the opposite side of Polk street.

Permitted to ask a question out of order, Judge Fires for defense, asked witness if he was the first person to enter the house after the shooting. Witness said he was not. Defense objected to the testimony, saying some one might have been in there and moved the furniture. Overruled by the court. Excepted.

The chair, said witness, was directly in front of the door and the screen door was standing open. The windows of the middle room were covered with shades. Paper sacks were found in the kitchen containing remnants of sandwiches.

The long wooden box said to have been carried by the man who shot Albert Boyce, was opened and the automatic shotgun was taken out. The box was measured and the gun was shown to fit therein.

A false mustache was produced from among the exhibits and Sheriff Birwell fitted it on in the presence of the jury. The breast plate, cartridge belt, jumper, goggles, two automatic pistols, clothing and other articles were examined, one by one. The breast plate was open and found to contain pasteboard and cotton batting.

Witness said he knew Sneed and Boyce. The latter had been at Amarillo a month or more before his death. When he saw Boyce at that time he was usually acting in an ordinary manner going and coming. It was some time before the homicide when he saw Sneed there last. He did not hold any conversation with Boyce.

The witness was cross examined by William McLean Jr. He said he had been sheriff several years and in the Rangers service. He did not know what the breast plate was.

"Didn't it look like a baseball player?" he was asked.

The witness replied he did not know.

The belt, he said, looked like it might have been worn, but he did not think the false mustache had been worn.

Increased Interest Marks The Times Cooking School

One of the most wholesome methods of preparing fish is to plank it or broil it. It is easy to do either when using a gas stove such as Miss Clift is using at the Cooking School this week. It is just as easy to broil fish plank as it is to fry it. If you don't know how it should be done come and see for yourself. Miss Clift is so ready and willing to answer questions that you won't feel the least bit nervous about it.

A whole lesson could be devoted to the subject of starchy foods. Macaroni is a singularly valuable food. It is easy to prepare, but there are a few important rules which Miss Clift will discuss in connection with the preparation of macaroni and cheese. Friday is a busy day, but it is impossible to conduct a cooking school without some instruction in the art of making pastry. Miss Clift will discuss this subject in a general way and prepare tarts, nut sticks, cheese straws or some other articles of which short pastry forms the foundation. Pie has the reputation of being indigestible and children are seldom allowed to eat half as much as they wish. It is possible, however, to make pie that is warranted harmless and Miss Clift will have some very instructive thinks to say on this subject. This lemon pie is quite new to us, and probably will be to you. It tastes "different somehow and it is not the kind that mother used to make but we never tasted anything better.

Everybody likes fritters once in a while. Corn fritters are delicious. Miss Clift's formula can be used for all kinds of fruits, however, if corn is not available. Thus it is possible to construct fritters of bananas, apples or oranges or almost any fruit you wish. But when you have tasted these corn fritters, you will probably agree they take a lot of beating. They seem to go so well with a fish dinner, too.

Well, what do you think of the lesson today? Agreed with us I suppose—that you had no idea a woman could do and say so many things in two hours as that little English girl can. The omelet proved very interesting to the ladies, but Miss Clift did not make it owing to lack of time, but you cannot fail to have success if the directions are closely followed.

And the best of it you can use the same formula for ten different kinds of omelet, any of which are delicious if only cooked and served at once. An omelet is something you can't make an hour before it is needed. It must be made and served at once, according to Miss Clift. The layer cake looked so pretty it seemed almost a shame to spoil its good looks by cutting it up, but we were all glad to find out for ourselves how good it tasted and I do not think there will be any more burnt or heavy cake in this city, for it is impossible to have any trouble in that direction if you follow the little book's directions. The loaf cake was very much admired. It was so nicely baked and had such a fine close grain and it tasted even better than it looked. Miss Clift announced that she made the loaf cake with the white of the egg and the layer cake with the whole egg as those were the conditions laid down for Saturday's baking contest. The baking of cakes in the gas oven was very fully discussed as Miss Clift thinks that is why so many women fail. They do not understand gas in the right way.

The doughnuts were the best thing ever. No matter who you spoke to in regard to the lesson the remark was the same in nearly every case. Yes, the cakes were very fine, but the doughnuts were better than anything we have had around here for a long time. And they were surely good. You would never know they were cooked in hot fat for there was not a sign of it about them. But I supposed it was just because Miss Clift used the right kind of fat, the result was so good. There were many questions concerning the frying such as how do you know the doughnut is cooked through? How can you tell when the Cottolene is hot enough or too hot? Why do my doughnuts sometimes soak fat and not others? Each and all of these questions were an-

Banker Baker of New York says there is a money trust, and he is competent to speak on a matter of that kind. Mr. Morgan, notwithstanding.

Perhaps it is useless to remind any one that fortune (small ones) have been made in Wichita Falls real estate. The Times could, if it wanted to, name dozens of people who, only a matter of some ten years or so, could not command more than a thousand dollars who are now worth more than $50,000, and have made all of it by buying and selling Wichita Falls property. Values of real estate in this city sometimes standon a level for months at a time but they have never gone backward during the past eight or twelve years. There is nothing more safe as an investment, even at the present values, and the values, in the main, are lower now than they will be a year from today.

[illegible] today from Austin indicate that Cecil Sheppard has a majority in the House and Senate, for the measure [illegible] of Senator [illegible]. It is a little thing to deny C. M. Johnston of the Houston Post, the honors he might gain in carrying out the last weeks of Senator Bailey's term, but Col. Johnston's action in the Baltimore convention was not what was expected of him as a member of the National Committee from Texas and instructed everywhere [illegible] Bryan and his delegation were instructed to vote and do everything in the power to bring about the nomination of Woodrow Wilson forces, after for more than a week had spoken in confidence to friends and delegation and what was in his power [illegible] the million that was going to [illegible] contract [illegible] Democrats [illegible] expected. Col. Johnston knows more than most any other man in Texas [illegible] Democratic affairs in Texas [illegible] Johnston [illegible] their views in that matter. It would have been [illegible] there would have been any opposition to his serving out the unexpired term.

RAISE FUNDS TO ADVERTISE CITY

TOTAL OF $5,000 WANTED

Money to be Raised Outside of Regular Dues—A. L. Huey and Myles O'Reilly at Work

Preliminary to a campaign to increase the membership of the Chamber of Commerce A. L. Huey and Myles O'Reilly, members of the membership committee, are trying to raise special advertising fund of $5,000 outside of the membership dues of that organization.

This fund was endorsed by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their meeting this week and Messrs. Huey and O'Reilly have met with much encouragement in their canvass so far. J. A. Kemp started off the fund with an agreement to contribute twenty per cent of the total amount raised. This is even more liberal than Mr. Kemp's usual liberal contributions to public funds. Others have contributed liberally and if the large owners of property who would probably receive the greatest benefit will come across in the same liberal manner the success of the project is assured.

It is planned to expend this money only for advertising purposes using newspapers, magazines and booklets to acquaint the outside world with facts about Wichita Falls.

After this fund is raised it is believed that the membership of the Chamber of Commerce can be doubled.

George Stump testified today that the statement was prepared in the office of Mr. Rockefeller's New York office after an interview between him, his brother and Mr. Rockefeller.

MOONEY DENIES BUYING STANDARD OIL LETTERS.

New Orleans, Jan. 16.—C. P. J. Mooney of Memphis, in attendance on the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association meeting here, after reading the Stump affidavit about Standard Oil letters said:

"I never saw Stump or any other man having Standard Oil letters in company with Mr. Chamberlain. I never saw any Standard Oil letter books. I never bought any original Standard Oil letters from that man or any one else."

Down Go the Prices Again

ON ALL WINTER GOODS

The warm weather of the last few days has put a crimp in the sale of heavier clothing, but we are bound and determined not to carry over a single garment. We are coming to you next season, just as we did this season, with a brand new stock of merchandise. We have put off our invoicing for a week, and during that time profit or cost is not going to be a consideration on any of our winter goods. We are going to sell them. We realize that the winter is yet to come and there will be plenty of time to sell the goods, but we are going to get them out before we begin in voicing. Our loss is your gain and you must come quick to get the best choice. We would prefer that our old customers, rather than new ones, get the advantage of these prices as we like to favor those who favor us, but of course the first come must be the first served. Here are a few of the new price reductions:

ROCKEFELLER DONATIONS ARE BARRED IN WILL

By Associated Press

Los Angeles, Jan 16—If the Christian Church accepts any assistance from John D Rockefeller personally or from the Rockefeller educational foundation it will forfeit a bequest of $75,000 left the University extension work, according to the will of the late Thomas W. Phillips of Newcastle, Pennsylvania, which was filed for probate here today.

New Bill at Lydia Margaret.

The Davis duo who open a three night's engagement at the Lydia Margaret are heralded as putting on one of the most refined acts in vaudeville. Miss Davis has a most remarkable baritone voice; Mr. Davis does some eccentric dancing that is seldom seen. He is known in vaudeville as the boy with the crazy dance The management guarantees this attraction to be out of the ordinary.

Another act will be John W. Early, formerly of Lou Dolk Stader Minstrels Ward and Hoker introducer of the famous song "Asleep In the Deep," "Absence Makes the Heart Grow Fonder." Miss Pearl M Laight formerly of the original Burkomaster leading lady with Otis Harlan with the Chas H. Hoyt comedys.

Earle and Carsello original black and tan have been booked direct from Chicago these people were here with recommendations from all the bigger houses in the east. Miss Carsello is without a doubt one of the best lady dancers coming south this season

"GOOD BY, FIDO" UNLESS YOU BUY HIM A TAG

Better tie Fido in the back yard tonight for the dog catchers will be abroad in the morning Another and probably better way to protect the aforesaid canine will be to go straight way down to the city tax collector's office and pay the required license, two dollars for a male dog, and three for a female, and secure a tag which should be securely suspended from the dog's neck.

The city authorities are in earnest about this dog tax business. A pound has been built in the old ball park at the end of Seventh street, and two expert Mexican dog catchers have been employed to catch every dog that does not wear a tag.

These Mexicans have been in the tamale business in the southern republic and both are experts with the lariat They will drive about the city with a dog cage on their wagon and have been instructed to make no distinction as to breed or pedigree.

All dogs must be held at the pound twenty-four hours before they are killed.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Majestic.

The Four Gaynors will start the Majestic bill off the last half of the week with what is universally concluded to be the premier of all comedy acrobatic turns. They are the last word in acrobatic intelligence, and introduce in their offering a little of every kind of acrobatic feats ever seen heretofore. All of their work is quick, snappy and one of the most notable and enjoyable of all features, it is a remarkably clean act. The costumes appear to be worn for the first time, bright, fresh and dainty, a fact which is always a noticeable one in acts of this nature The Four Gaynors will do their own little best to make the show a most pleasing one, and it is safe to say their own little best will be one of the greatest features of the day.

The Great Roberta, Europe's greatest juggler, assisted by Mrs. Bea VeVera, the famous singer, will give a most interesting twelve minutes of entertainment. Roberta juggles anything from a toothpick to a pitchfork and his act is full of rip-roaring good fun and interest from beginning to end. Mrs. Bea VeVera possesses one of the sweetest, rarest voices ever heard Her repertoire consists of both classical and popular melodies, and she sings them in a manner so remarkable that none can fail to enjoy her bit of entertainment. Together Roberta and VeVera will introduce a pleasing novelty, interesting and entertaining throughout, and sure to please their auditors.

It was purely accidental that Foster Ball, who will appear with Ford West, hit upon the character that now is making him popular in vaudeville wherever he is seen. Like all ambitious young actors, he was glad to get a chance at anything in the line of a part when he applied for his first position. They needed some one to impersonate an old man and they assigned the part to young Ball. The role fit him exactly, and he soon made a strong hit out of a character that was originally conceived as weak. Mr Ball liked the impersonation, too, and he continued to take similar lines in a number of different Eastern road shows. This season he is producing his best character, Gee Williker Hay from Tennessee's Parner in a delightful light comedy sketch, "Since the Days of '61." It is an excellent study, too, the impersonation of the civil war veteran being particularly successful

Big Production Coming.

Coming to this city from engagements in all the principal cities of the United States, "The Red Rose," a musical comedy, appearing under the direction of John C. Fisher with Zoe Barnett as the star, will be seen at the Wichita Theatre January 22. "The Red Rose" is in three acts and was written by the well known brothers playwright combination, Harry B and Robert B. Smith The music is by Robert Hood Bowers. The piece was staged by R. H. Burnside, who for five years was stage manager of the New York Hippidrome.

The scenes are laid in and around Paris One represents an art school in the Latin quarter, another the estate of a wealthy baron in a suburb of Paris, and the last set depicts the Four Arts Ball The story concerns an artists' model and a young American, heir to millions. There are sixty five people in the company, many of them well known comic opera favorites, including Zoe Barnett, possessed of both voice and histronic ability, Louis Casavant, Bly Brown Maurice Darcy, Russell Lenpon, and David Reese The piece has been seen in the principal cities in the United States, where it was well enough received to warrant a summer production at the Globe Theatre, New York City, where it ran the entire summer The organization numbers some sixty-five persons and includes the names of many well known in the musical comedy field

"Mutt and Jeq."

It is quite probable that there is not a man, woman or child in this whole United States who has not heard of or seen Bud Fisher's cartoons of "Mutt and Jeff." It is nothing more or less than a clever concelt A simple off-hand drawing of a couple of impossible men, fantastically dressed, but the idea has caught the popular fancy "for a laugh" which was just exactly what the cartoons were intended to accomplish As a consequence, hundreds of newspapers all over the country and Europe print Fisher's cartoons daily. Gus Hill was the first to grasp the idea of converting "Mutt and Jeff" into a play, and he immediately set about having a play built around these two funny fellows If you can laugh at a simple picture in a newspaper, you can imagine what you will do when you can sit for two and one half hours and watch the antics of Fisher's "brainfolks" The play is a musical comedy of a very high order, constructed for laughing purposes only. A company of singing and dancing artists have been engaged to form a suitable foil for the two irresistable comedians who will portray the principal characters "Mutt and Jeff is undoubtedly the most talked of play in a number of years, not only among theatrical people, but by theatre-goers all over the country. Mr Hill promises a play fully up to the expectations of the millions of people who are anxiously awaiting its presentation "Mutt and Jeff" will receive its initial presentation in Wichita Falls at the Majestic Theatre Tuesday, January 21.

Indian Girl Goes Under Three Different Names and Gets Three Valuable Allotments

Muskogee Okla., Jan 16.—The assertion that the same person cannot be in two places at one time and that an individual can only have one legal name was disproved at the session of the Dawes commission when a Creek girl whose name is withheld by the government but who lives in Muskogee, satisfied the officers that she had three legal names, had secured an allotment on each of these names had a father and mother with not less than four different names and stranger still had legally appointed guardians in Hughes and McIntosh counties each of which was acting on the theory that they had full control of her property.

The great activity in the oil and gas business in Oklahoma is bringing out some strange and startling stories but the limit was reached Monday when the Creek girl came in and voluntarily admitted that she had three allotments under three different names; she had two legally appointed guardians and that oil had been found on all three of her allotments; she was [illegible] quantity want [illegible] officials could [illegible] possible for an Indian with [illegible] and mother belonging to different tribes to be given more than one allotment but to have a Creek girl receive three separate and distinct allotments in the Creek nation under three distinct names was hard to comprehend. The girl was apparently innocent and she willingly admitted that she would surrender any property to which she had no claim.

The records showed that the girl had been allotted land under her school name under her tribal name and also under the English name her father went by in Muskogee. The guardians in Hughes and McIntosh counties had been appointed without her knowledge or consent and the fact that she had been enrolled under three different names was not brought to her attention until the oil men became her to secure leases on her land. It was decided to refer the matter to U. S. commissioner and a suit will be brought to annul two of the allotments.

A similar case was brought to the attention of Dana H. Kelsey last Saturday. Two weeks ago a Creek Indian appeared and under a certain name agreed to give an oil lease on his allotment. On Saturday the same Indiana appeared for the purpose of signing another lease but this time he had a new name and a different allotment.

Are you not the same man who signed a lease here a few days ago? the Indian was asked. He admitted that he was the same man but this time he had a different name. An investigation showed that he had been enrolled under two different names and had been allotted two different parcels of oil land.

The government authorities are satisfied that a great many Indians have received duplicate allotments and Judge Campbell's decision to the effect that an innocent purchaser of an illegal allotment has no claim to it is responsible for the present stir at the Indian agency.

U. S. District Attorney Gregg is preparing to institute proceedings to set aside a number of these excessive allotments and this is causing quite a stir among the oil men. The oil people claim that the chain of title is clear as far as an innocent purchaser is concerned and an appeal will be taken to the U. S. supreme court.

SAYS STOCKMEN'S RIGHTS SHOULD BE PROTECTED

President of National Association Asks for Better Federal Laws For Cattlemen

Phoenix Ariz. Jan 15.—The need of stringent federal laws, safeguarding the rights of stockmen and extending their privileges was advocated by H. A. Jastro president of the American National Livestock association at the opening session of its annual convention.

Mr. Jastro attributed the fact that the United States has less livestock per capita than ever before to the unsatisfactory range conditions arising out of indiscriminate grazing and the scramble to secure what is left of the already depleted ranges.

Mr. Jastro advocated the appointment of a committee to urge before congress a bill for the leasing of semi arid unappropriated public grazing lands protecting the rights of the homesteader.

A score of Texas leading cattlemen are representing the state at the convention. D. M. Devitt and S. H. Cowan of Fort Worth are members of the delegation.

The convention programme covers three days. Subjects of vital interest to Texas stock raising circles are to be considered. Leaders in the industry throughout the west will be heard in addresses on timely topics.

Steps will be taken by the cattlemen to avert the placing of South America meats on the tariff free list. Stockmen declare that such action would limit the opportunity for the sale of western beef products in the east without materially if at all reducing the price of meat off the block to the ultimate consumer.

The admission of cattle free of duty also will be a subject for the convention's consideration. Resolutions recently have been passed by both the Texas and American associations opposing the proposition.

STATE WITNESSES NOT YET THROUGH

Hughes, he said, had lived continuously in Amarillo until the killing occurred, but had not been seen there since.

Al Boyce, he understood, was an unmarried man, about 36 years old and Amarillo was not his home. Beal Sneed had a nice home at Amarillo, but witness could not describe his family relations. He saw him and his family frequently, but did not know them intimately. He had never heard anything against Sneed.

Witness said he did not know of Al Boyce's reputation as being the crack six-shooter marksman of the Panhandle.

The State objected to this question but the defense said it could prove by a courtroom full of witnesses that Sneed knew of Boyce's reputation as a crack shot, and the court admitted it.

M. H. Ernest has opened his cigar factory at 711 Seventh street and is now turning out about 2,000 Havana and Domestic cigars daily. He was delayed several weeks in opening his plant on account of steps necessary to secure an internal revenue license.

OIL FIELD NEWS

J. E. Head, who has been hitting the wet spots pretty regularly of late has a good showing on the Warren tract in the Burkburnett district, and will make a test tomorrow The sand was found at 1551 feet, which is deeper than the Eeds sand and not as deep as the Schmocker. Indications are for a good well

Representatives of several of the large oil companies operating in Wichita county have asked the county tax collector for statements of the taxes upon their properties as rendered by them to the tax assessor. It is understood that they will offer payemnt of taxes upon renditions given by them but will contest the payment of additional taxes upon assessments as raised by the county commissioners setting as a board of review. Under the law the tax collector is compelled to accept the tender of taxes upon the renditions made by the companies.

HOW ABOUT THAT COLD?

Do you sneeze until your eyes and nose leak like a street sprinkler and then cough your nutter box till your cocoanut feels like it was cracked?

If you are doing this you are flirting with pneumonia and teasing the undertaker which is about as wise procedure as sticking a match to a bomb to see if it is loaded.

Of course up to this writing there are some eleven thousand different ways to whip a cold to a whisper. Everybody has a favorite remedy to recommend to friends but none of them have anything to take themselves.

The recognized remedy for coughs and colds is our twin specifics, Dikes Cold Tablets and Dikes Bronchial Lozenges. They are twentyfive cents each and a few doses will convince you that they are worth a dollar dose to the fellow with a cold.

PRISONERS TIE JAILER, ESCAPE

SIX MEN CONFINED IN JAIL AT FREDERICK, OKLAHOMA, MAKE GETAWAY

FOUR OF THEM NEGROES

One Alleged Murderer is Among Fugitives—Frederick's Officer Searching for Them Here

Six prisoners confined in the Tillman county jail at Fredreick, Oklahoma, last night caught the jailor, Walter Lynch in an unguarded moment, bound and gagged him, took his revolver and locked him in the "run around" and made their escape.

Two hours later passersby on the street heard Lynch's groans and forced their way through the jail door, which the fugitives had locked behind them, and discovered the plight of the jailor.

At eleven o'clock last night, one of the fugitives, a white man named Taylor, charged with a statutory offense, deserted his fellows and stopped at a farm house near Davidson, twelve miles southwest of Feredericck and telephoned for the sheriff to come and get him. Taylor said he had not wanted to join in the attack on the jailor, but had been forced to accompany the others at the point of their recolvers. He said he left the other fugitives at the first opportunity.

Officers are scouring the country for fifty miles around Davidson in search of the fugitives. One of the officers, E. I. May, former deputy sheriff of Tillman county, came to Wichita Falls last night and has been searching all southbound trains.

Four of the fugitives are negroes. One of them, Will Gilbert, is charged with murdering his wife. Another named Charley Coleman, a Creek negro, is charged with highway robbery. The other two negroes are charged with minor crimes. The other white man besides Taylor, is a man named Swet Davis, who is charged with a minor offense. Sheriff Eoff has offered a reward for the recapture of any or all the escaped prisoners.

According to Mr. Mays, who is stationed here to look out for the fugitives, the jailor had carried a scuttle of coal into the run around and was bending over the scuttle when the prisoners jumped on him and quickly overpowered him. Charley Coleman, the Creek negro wanted to kill him, but the others prevented him from doing so.

The fugitives are known to be desperate and the two negroes charged with the graver crime are expected to put up a desperate fight if they are overtaken. Fears are entertaind that they may offer violence to the family of some isolated farmer in order to gain possession of more weapons and ammunition.

SUGAR DUTIES SUBJECT OF COMMITTEE HEARING

that free sugar would open the United States market to the importation of refined beet sugars from Europe upon the same terms as raw sugars in competition with domestic refined.

"Free surgars, while present production is maintained," he said, "would drop prices here so low as to destroy the Louisiana industry, the beet sugar industry, particularly east of the Mississippi River; would depress Porto Rican and Philippine sugars far below their production cost and make Hawaiian production unprofitable, thus largely curtailing our present sources of supply.

"Once this production so so reduced," declared Mr Atkins, "foreign prices would advance until domestic producers could again enter the field and meanwhile disaster would be widespread and consumers would get but a temporary benefit."

Frank C. Lowry of New York, representing a committee of wholesale grocers, contended that whether or not sugar was placed on the free list a countervailing duty cause should be enacted similar to that in the present tariff law He suggested consideration of the consumption tax as a strictly revenue measure.

Former Governor Fernald of Maine, representing the National Canners Association and 75 per cent of the canned fruit interests of the country urged free sugar or a reduced sugar rate.

PHENOMENAL INCREASE IN CHICAGO BUILDING OPERATIONS

Chicago, Jan. 16.—The mild weather which prevailed in December is accountable for the phenomenal increase in building operations in that month. There were gains in forty-nine cities and losses in thirty. The percentage of gain in seventy-nine cities is 13 per cent.

New York City (Manhattan and Bronx), took out permits for structures to cost $16,159,032, a gain of 91 per cent. Boston gained 87 per cent. Chicago, however, lost 29 per cent.
